TIME AND CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

EXAMINATIONS for admission to the Freshman class take place on the last Friday of the second term, (July 10th, 1863,) and on the Thursday of Commencement week, (September 3d.) The candidates assemble in No. 12 University Hall, at 8 o'clock, A. M.

The regular examination for admission to the other classes of the University, is held on Saturday of Commencement week, (September 5th, 1863.)

There will also be an examination for admission to advanced standing in the several classes, on the first Saturday of the second term, (February 14th, 1863,) commencing at 9 o'clock, A. M.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman class are examined in

Arithmetic, and Algebra as far as Quadratic Equations,

Ancient and Modern Geography,

English Grammar, and the use of the English Language,

Hadley's Greek Grammar, the Syntax and Greek Selections in Harkness' "First Greek Book," and Four Books of Xenophon's Anabasis, or an equivalent portion of some classical Greek Author, and in writing Greek, Latin Grammar, Cæsar's Commentaries, the Æneid of Virgil, Six Orations of Cicero, Latin Prosody, and in writing Latin.

The examination is both oral, and in writing. It is necessary that all candidates be thoroughly prepared, especially in the knowledge of Greek and of Latin Grammar; and that they be versed in Latin and in Greek Composition.

Candidates for admission to the three years' course of instruction, are examined as above, if they pursue classical studies; otherwise, they are examined only in Arithmetic, Algebra, English Grammar, and Modern Geography.

Students who wish to pursue a select course, without entering as candidates for a degree, must be examined in the above mentioned English branches.

No student can be admitted as a candidate for matriculation, unless he bring suitable testimonials of good moral character; and if he come from another college or an academy, he must also present a certificate of good standing in the institution which he has left, and of regular dismission from it.

The earliest age at which, in general, it will be advantageous for a student to enter the University, is at the completion of the fifteenth year; the President is, however, authorized to matriculate a student at an earlier age, provided sufficient and peculiar reasons exist, and his parent or guardian places him under such moral supervision as is satisfactory to himself.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

FIRST TERM.

A shorter course of instruction, extending through three years, is pursued by those who enter for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy.

If classical studies are pursued, the course is as follows:

First Year. An Ancient Language, French, Geometry and Algebra.

Second Year. An Ancient Language, and Rhetoric, as required studies; Trigonometry, Natural Philosophy, Physiology, elective.

Third Year. Intellectual and Moral Philosophy, and History, required studies; German, Chemistry, Geology and Political Economy, elective.

If classical studies are not pursued, the course is as follows:

First Year. French, Chemistry, Physiology, Geometry and Algebra.

Second Year. Natural Philosophy, Rhetoric, as required studies; Trigonometry, Civil Engineering, Chemistry applied to the Arts, Geology and Political Economy, elective.

Third Year. Intellectual and Moral Philosophy, History, required studies; German, Civil Engineering, Chemistry applied to the Arts, Geology and Political Economy, elective.

DEPARTMENTS OF PRACTICAL SCIENCE.

Departments of Practical Science have been established in the University, designed for the benefit of those who do not intend to enter the learned professions, but wish to prepare themselves for the pursuits of active life, and especially for those practical arts in which success depends essentially on an acquaintance with chemistry or with mathematics. By the statutes of the University, the studies of these departments may be pursued as elective studies by such candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy as pursue the second of the above mentioned courses of instruction for that degree; and also, in special cases, on permission being granted by the Executive board, by candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. These departments are the following:

I. CHEMISTRY APPLIED TO THE ARTS.

It is the design of this department to afford facilities for the acquisition of a practical knowledge of the science of chemistry, including its application to the Arts. Within the past year, these facilities have been greatly increased.

A spacious Laboratory has been erected for the use of this department, and is fitted up with all the most approved modern appliances of the science.

The course of instruction is intended to meet the wants of all classes of business and of professional men.

Particular attention is given to the Chemistry of Agriculture, Medicine, Pharmacy, Metallurgy and of manufacturing processes.

Suitable rooms and instruments have also been provided for Photography, and instruction will be furnished in the practice and theory of the Art.

Encouragement will be extended to advanced students who may desire to make original researches.

Any person, who is prepared to pursue these studies with advantage, may be admitted as a special student.

The Laboratory is open each day of the week from 9 A. M., until 5 P. M.

II. CIVIL ENGINEERING.

The full course of Civil Engineering occupies a year and a half. It embraces the following studies and exercises:

Descriptive Geometry—Shade and Shadows—Linear Perspective—Theoretical and Practical Mechanics, including the elements and combinations of Machinery, the theory and practice of Mill-work, and the Measurement of moving power and of work performed—Hydraulics—Pneumatics, including the construction and theory of the Steam Engine; Applications of Chemistry and Mineralogy to Engineering—Principles of Architecture; Engineering Proper, comprising all that immediately relates to the art of Construction in all its branches, and to the nature and preparation of the materials used.

Drawing.—Geometrical and Perspective—Drawing of Plans, Elevations, and Sections of proposed structures.

Field Work.—Surveying with Compass, Theodolite, &c., Leveling; Locating a Road; Surveys for estimates of Excavation and Embankment; Astronomical Observations for the determination of time, latitude, longitude, &c.

To pursue this course to the best advantage, the student should be well acquainted with the following branches of Mathematics, viz:—Algebra, Plane and Solid Geometry, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Surveying, Analytical Geometry, or Conic Sections; which make up the course of Mathematics taught in the University.

Without this amount of preparation, persons may be admitted to any portion of the above mentioned course which they are able to pursue to advantage.

The terms of instruction in these departments of Practical Science, are given in a paragraph on page 31, under the head of Expenses.

LIBRARIES.

The University Library is in Manning Hall, and contains, at present, thirty thousand volumes. It is constantly increasing from the proceeds of a permanent fund of $25,000 established for this purpose in 1839. The Library is open four hours daily, from 9 A. M. till 1 P. M. In addition to the University Library, the Libraries of the Philermenian and the United Brothers' Societies, comprise, together, six thousand volumes, accessible to all the students of the University.

ASSISTANCE TO MERITORIOUS STUDENTS.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

A Fund derived from a bequest made to the University by the late Hon. Nicholas Brown, has been applied, by the Corporation, to the founding of eleven Scholarships, called the Nicholas Brown Scholarships. The income of these Scholarships is given, under the direction of the Executive Board, to meritorious students who may need pecuniary assistance.

Nineteen other scholarships have been recently established by the contributions of friends of the college, the income of which is already available; and special efforts are now making by which, it is hoped, the number of these foundations will be largely increased.

THE PRESIDENT'S PREMIUMS.

These premiums are derived from the income of a donation, made by the Rev. Dr. Wayland, while President of the University. They are awarded to those members of the Freshman Class who are found, upon a special examination, to have attained the highest excellence in the classical studies, preparatory to admission to college. They are fixed by the statutes, as follows:

A First Premium of fifteen dollars, and a second of ten dollars, for excellence in the Greek language:

A First Premium of fifteen dollars, and a second of ten dollars, for excellence in the Latin language.

The examination is held on the first Monday of the first collegiate term. The competitors are examined in Latin and in Greek Grammar, in writing Latin and Greek, and in the first six books of the Æneid of Virgil, and in the first three books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

The premiums have this year been awarded as follows:

The First Premium in Latin to Emery H. Porter, instructed by Mr. Charles B. Goff, in the Fall River High School.

The Second Premium in Latin to Charles A. G. Thurston, instructed by Mr. Charles B. Goff, in the Fall River High School.

EXERCISES IN ELOCUTION AND COMPOSITION.

The Junior Class has regular exercises in Declamation. Each member of this class is required to deliver an original speech once a month. Members of the Junior and Sophomore Classes pursuing the Study of Rhetoric, are required to present Essays once a fortnight.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

The exercises of every day commence with Prayers, in the College Chapel. All students are also required to attend public worship twice on Sunday. For this purpose, each one reports to the President, at the beginning of the term, the church which he will attend.

EXPENSES.

There are two terms of study in each year; and the term bills are paid in advance, and at the commencement of the term.

If a student is matriculated as a candidate for a degree, he is charged a fee of $5,00.

The College expenses for a year are as follows:

Tuition, $18,00 per term	$36 00
Room-rent, $4,50 per term	9 00
Servant's hire, $1,50 per term to $3,50	7 00
Use of Library, $1,50 per term	3 00
Register's salary, $2,00 per term	4 00
Repairs, from $1,75 to $2,00 per term	4 00
Public Fuel, from $1,75 to $2,00 per term	4 00
	$67 00

If a student occupy a room alone, his rent and servants' hire are doubled.

Board is not furnished in College. The Register keeps a list of the names of families in the city, by whom Board, and Board and Lodging are furnished to students at the following rates:

Board at from $2,25 to 3,00 per week. Board and Lodging, with furnished rooms, in some cases washing or fuel included, from $3,50 to $4,50 per week.

There are two Boarding Clubs, which are aided to some extent by the Corporation. The price of board in these clubs, the last year, was somewhat less than $2,00 per week.

The above estimate for tuition does not include the fees for instruction in Chemistry applied to the Arts, and in Civil Engineering. For the full course in each of these departments, the fee is $30,00 per term. But students who pursue the studies of either of these departments in connection with those of the other departments of the College, or persons not pursuing other studies in College, who devote only a portion of their time to either of these departments, pay a fee in proportion to the time occupied.

All the apparatus required in the Chemical Laboratory will be furnished the student and charged in his account, and the charge cancelled for that which is returned in good condition.

Charge for Chemicals, Alcohol, Gas, and all other materials required, use of apparatus, fuel and other current expenses, per term $55 00

This charge is intended merely to cover the average cost. If the cost falls below the charge specified, the deduction will be made accordingly.
